Plans Development of Foreign Commerce by American Manufacturers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Besides closing plans for an extensive investigation into the economic features of the trust problem, Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce, in his first annual report, recommends legislation to presume that all restraints of trade are unreasonable, to place the burden of establishing the reasonableness of the restraint on the person alleging it to protect interlocking directorates; to prohibit "watering" of stocks; and to prohibit corporations and persons from controlling stocks or in controlling company companies.

Second only in interest to Mr. Redfield's views on the trust question are plans for developing trade of the United States abroad by reorganization of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

The trust question, and the work out for the bureau of corporations, will range from an investigation of whether trusts are efficient to study of the economic laws govern-

the fixing of retail prices, bears important relation to President Roosevelt's legislative program. Secretary Redfield discusses it exhaustively and substantially outlines his views follows:

Questions Trust Efficiency.

There is a growing question in the ranks of experienced and thoughtful men as to whether the trust form organization is industrially efficient, and whether bigness and bulk always necessary to production at lowest cost. It may be conceded that massing of capital and the buying of great quantities of labor have many elements of efficiency. But it is doubtful, at best, whether these two elements are all the factors that exist, and whether there does not come a point of maximum efficiency at minimum cost beyond which increase of product means an increase of cost per unit of that product.

It is significant that some of the trusts have ceased to exist that ever pay but moderate dividends, if on their securities, and that, side by side with the most efficient, there are grown up independent organizations quite as successful and perhaps even more upon their capital than their powerful competitor.

Big Business a Boon?

There is no criticism here of big business as such, but merely the question as to whether "big business" has its very marked limitations, and whether there are not cases where it is rather less desirable than decent.

At there are immediate and well-conditioned that should and can be done by law is apparent. Some remedies are for instance providing that there shall be option that all restraints of an unreasonable and plainly

HUERTA DICTATOR OF MEXICO AGAIN

Congress Adjourns Until April
2; U. S. to Protect Spanish Residents

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 15.—From now until April 2 President Huerta will be obliged to conduct the government without congress, as that specially created organization was formally adjourned today. Its most important acts while in session were the ratification of the president's assumption of power over the various departments of the government after dissolving the preceding congress, and granting to the president the same power, which gives General Huerta until congress convenes again practically the arms of a dictator.

Altogether the new congress was unobtrusive, interfering not at all with the executive's ideas of government.
Its most notable act, aside from those directly connected with the executive's plans was the ratification of a concession to a Belgian syndicate to construct 5,000 miles of narrow gauge railways.

Spaniards Aroused.

The Constitutional general, Villa's treatment of the Spaniards at Chihuahua has aroused the keen sympathy of the colony here. The Spanish minister, Senor Colomar y Cologan, was summoned to Washington today through the American charge, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, his thanks for the efforts made by the government to relieve his countrymen at that place.

The situation around Tampico is declared by the government to be settle-factory.

Late railway reports indicate that the Constitutionalists in their retreat took away only four locomotives and enough cars to make up four trains.

Reports from other parts of Mexico concern the usual number of minor engagements and rebel depredations

Trouble Minimized.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Except for a telegram from American Consul Letcher telling of threats of expulsion of Spaniards and confiscation of their property, the state department up to a late hour today had received no official information concerning reported indications to other foreigners by Mexican Constitutionalists at Chihuahua City.

Secretary Bryan said there has been no interference with Consul Letcher's telegrams by the Constitutionalists and that so far as he had been able to learn, threats had been made to any of the foreign consuls. The secretary announced that on account of a break in the telegraph connection between Chihuahua and Juarez, Amekita, Oaxaca, and Mexicali at the "early" stage decided to avail himself of the services of R. D. Carothers, his agent at Torreon, who arrived at El Paso today on his way back to his post by way of Chihuahua. Mr. Carothers will carry any communications which Mr.
Edwards has and will assist Mr.
Letcher at Chihuahua until the situation is normal there.

No instructions to Consul Letcher beyond those sent on Saturday as a result of representations by the Spanish ambassador here have been dispatched by the state department. The telegram to Mr. Letcher was described by Mr. Bryan as the same sort of representations that has been made to General Carranza and General Villa on previous occasions, vigorously pointing to the importance of respecting foreigners and their property. Mr.
Letcher was also instructed to urge

Conference Opens Today.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Although the Republican national committee will decide the question as to whether they shall call an extraordinary party convention until its formal meeting tomorrow, many of the arguments for and against such action were made tonight at a dinner given to the committee by Chairman Charles D. Hiles.

In a speech to the diners that preceded the discussion of the question, Mr.
Hiles outlined at length the matters which the committee and a convention if called, will be asked to settle. He gave some of the arguments on each side and declared that in any event, the Republican party should get together.

This conference, he said, is not a counsel of despair. Republicans have every reason to feel hopeful.

"In order that we may again triumph
we must have some motive other than a desire to win. We are the trustees of the Republican party a fact which should inspire in us a sense of cogent responsibility. Republicans and former Republicans can go very far in a protocol of union if a surrender of principles is not involved.

We will not embrace theories of government that are the destruction of the nation, that are the destruction of all that we hold essential to the maintenance of liberty, regulated by law.

Meeting is "Abnormal."

Mr. Hiles referred to the meeting of the national committee as "an abnormal meeting directed by the executive committee and warranted by conditions

He announced that five important questions to be decided by the committee tomorrow involved the recognition of state laws as to the manner

VILLA FEARS TRAP LAID BY FEDERALS

Situation at Chihuahua Is Greatly Improved Since Protests Were Made

JUAREZ, Mexico, Dec. 15.—While rebel headquarters in Juarez today was sending urgent messages to General Francisco Villa, the rebel commander at Chihuahua, telling him he was incurring the displeasure of foreign countries in his actions towards Spaniards and other foreigners, and asking him to modify his attitude. General Villa himself was said to be seriously concerned over renewed federal activities.

Reports were that federals were advancing toward Chihuahua from Torreon about 200 miles south. Villa has had to scatter his forces by sending troops to surround the federal at Ojinaga on the border while garrisoning Juarez and Chihuahua. This was said to offer the federals an opportunity to strike at Chihuahua which was evacuated by them when Villa had all his forces together. Federal troops also were reported on their way from Monterrey, with a view of strengthening the position of the Huerta government in the interior.

May Be Federal Trap

An attack on Chihuahua which is not regarded as imminent would cut Villa off from any base on the border.
It was conceded by rebels that the first act of the federals should be to stop all telegraph and railroad communication. Thus the federal evacuation of Chihuahua which occurred two weeks ago and enabled Villa to enter the state capital without a battle would prove to be something of a military trap out of which the rebels would have to fight their way.

The plan which the rebel forces think the federals possibly are trying to work is to draw as many as possible of the rebels toward Ojinaga while of choosing delegates, minimizing the number of contests for seats in conventions, terminating the tenure of committed men automatically upon the election of their successors; the creation of a new tribunal to hear contestants and changing the basis of representation.

Mr. Hilles dwelt at length on the proposed recognition of primary laws and the proposal to change the basis of representation, which would lead to the reduction in the proportion of delegates from southern states. Discarding the proposal of reduction, Mr. Hilles pointed out the success of the Republican party in several states south of Mason and Dixon's line and summed up the argument of the opponents of the plan.

"They," he said, "argue that if the party ignores the great body of Republicans—denies representation in its convention to colored men who are disfranchised by an arbitrary, militant and unconscionable Democracy—it will have wrought a wrong of far-reaching consequence, that its new slogan of 'Just and Equal Representation' will be a shamname, and that it will have given countenance to a dangerous and despotic system."

"It may not be irrelevant to remark," he added, "that if President Wilson's proposal for a federal primary law should take form and be enacted into a constitutional law, the five perplexing problems which I have endeavored to state in an impartial manner would disappear. Even so, the Republican party would, I fancy, continue to hold national conventions, for, surely, the right of assembly is still left to us as private citizens until the constitution is repealed."

In a preparation to check Villa's projected march to Torreon. The Federals retook Torreon, according to refugees, who also occupy Paraiso, and have charge of all the industries owned by the Madero family in the state of Coahuila.

Situation Improved.

The situation at Chihuahua, on account of the protests of Spaniards against their expulsion from Mexico, was less critical. It was understood that arrangements were made for the sending of an official inquiry from the American government to Villa through Consul Letcher. Villa is making progress with the disposal of goods which he seized from the Spaniards. All the prices of foodstuffs and clothing at the Spanish retail stores were sold at less than half price and Constitutionalist money was accepted.

Word came that Luis Terrazas, Jr., for whose release from prison an appeal was sent to Secretary of State Bryan, already had granted forced loans to Villa. This took the form of checks in small denomination, aggregating $250,000, and the checks were being used as currency.

Luis Terrazas, Sr., who is a refugee in El Paso, feared his son might meet with violence should he be unable to furnish more funds. The father, however, was hopeful that representations by the American government would result in the release of the prisoner, who is a Mexican citizen.

An explanation given by General Benavides, commander at Juarez, regarding Villa's acts in Chihuahua, was that Villa had been consistent to his own idea as to what warfare was, but had been without advice in regard to the rights of foreigners.

There was no fighting today at Ojinaga, where General Mercado, the federal commander, is posted.

GAZETTE STORY OF NYE'S TRAVELS IN PANAMA FORM

Sergeant Perry of the local marine corps recruiting station has received word from headquarters at Denver to the effect that the story of marine life as written by Salvatore E. L. Nye and published in the Gazette of October 19 will be presented in pamphlet form and distributed to all recruiting offices of Colorado for advertising purposes. Ten thousand copies of the story will be printed.

Sergeant Perry stated that owing to the fact that the marine corps is now practically recruited to its full strength that he has received orders authorizing him to recruit for the navy as well as the marines. Boys 17 years of age can enter the navy with their parents' consent, while 18 years is the minimum age at which a boy may enter the marine service.

FOREST NOTES

Twenty states have published reports of their wood-using industries.

It is predicted that western yellow pine will furnish an excellent source of turpentine in the southern pine woods exhausted.

The Philippine bureau of forestry has a bureau for service between islands. The United States forest service employs six men both in inland lakes and in salt water in Alaska and Florida.

Christmas Trees

Despite the exceptionally heavy snow in the mountains, and eve with the roads impassable we expect to receive a carload of fine Christmas trees by Thursday of this week. These trees will be even better than heretofore. Prices will range from 25¢ for small sizes to about $3 for extra large, fine trees.

Plans to Better Department

Secretary Redfield outlines his plans for a reorganization of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Our foreign commerce has grown by leaps and bounds until during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, it reached the great total of $4,279,000,000 in value. Of this great sum, $2,466,000,000 were exports, and $1,812,000,000 were imports, showing a trade balance on these transactions in our favor of $653,000,000. It certainly can not be said that the government has done much to foster this great and growing trade.

Breiffel stated, the proposed organization provides for commercial attaches to be located at each of 14 capitals accredited to our embassies there by the department of state, but reporting directly to the department of commerce. Their purpose will be to study the commerce and industries of the nations where they reside. They will have no other duties. They will collaborate with the consuls having the advantage of the larger view and of the freedom from other cares.

For all the work of his great department, Secretary Radfield asks Congress to appropriate $15,000,000, an increase of a little more than $4,000,000 over the present year. The remainder of his report is devoted to review of the work of the Bureau of Fisheries, the steamboat inspection service, the Bureau of Navigation and its efforts for the promotion of safety at sea, the census, the Bureau of Standards, and important work it is conducting for municipalities and the coast and geodetic survey.

Word came that Luis Terrazas, Jr., for whose release from prison an appeal was sent to Secretary of State Bryan, already had granted forced loans to Villa. This took the form of checks in small denomination, aggregating $250,000, and the checks were being used as currency.

Luis Terrazas, Sr., who is a refugee in El Paso, feared his son might meet with violence should he be unable to furnish more funds. The father, however, was hopeful that representations by the American government would result in the release of the prisoner, who is a Mexican citizen.

ward a people which the United States was endeavoring to assist to self government and civilization. No effort, according to White house officials, has been made to keep the banquet a private affair, copies of the songs and descriptions of the travesties showing opposition to the administration's Philipine policy having been given to the press generally in advance.

Object to Hostile Spirit.

It was made plain at the White house that while a general burlesque of the administration's peace policies and threats at Secretary Bryan and others were deeply resented because they came from army and navy officers, the chief objection was to the spirit of hostility shown to Philippine independence as the problem is being worked out by the present administration.

Secretaries Daniels and Garrison conferred at length on the subject and called upon Rear Admiral Thomas T. Howard U. S. N., and Major General James Aleshire, U. S. A., the two highest officers of the Carabao, for an explanation. They promised to give all the information desired. They would not discuss the incident for publication.

Secretary Daniels who made a speech at the banquet, but left early to attend the congressional reception, said afterward that none of the "stunts" —such as the bringing in of the Peace Fleet" composed of the battleship models "U. S. S. Friendship, U. S. S. Fellowship and U. S. S. Piffle"—had taken place while he was present.

Why Daniels Was Offended.

"While I was there," said Mr. Daniels, "the thing I thought was particularly offensive was the song, 'Damn, damn, damn the insurgents.' Did I know it was to have been sung? I would have asked that it be eliminated from the program if I would not have attended."

The chorus of the song which was sung with great gusto by hundreds of the army and navy officers present was:

"Damn, damn, damn the insurgents—Cross-eyed Kakiski ladrones—Underneath the starry flag, civilize 'em with a Krag."

And return us to our own beloved homes."

The word "ladrones" is the Spanish for "robbers" and "Krag" is the abbreviation for the Krag-Jorgensen rifle.

It was in bad taste to sing that song, said Mr. Daniels. It isn't like the Gridiron club or other organizations outside who are independent of the government. When I heard the song I turned to Justice Van Devant of the Supreme court who was sitting beside me and said, "This will be reported, if it goes to the Philipines."

Carried It Too Far

He said with a laugh, "Better not sing the song, I suppose the officers intended merely to have a jolly time for they went to war. If they had stopped to think I am sure they would not have done it."

It was pointed out to the writer by the song had been sung at many Caribbean dinners in previous years and had originally read, "Damn, damn, damn the Philipines, but had been amended.

Army and navy officers have no business sing either version," said Mr. Daniels. One naval officer said to me that President Taft had heard the song at a previous dinner and had not objected. I told him that did not mean it should be sung after the November elections of a year ago as the whole Philippine policy of the government has changed, this administration making every effort to give independence to the Philipines when they are ready."

The result of the investigation is be-

MEXICAN GIRL RISKS BULLETS TO ASSIST WOUNDED REBELS
GUADALUPE CANDELARIA

Tales of bravery and sacrifice by Mexican women in connection with the present chaotic state of affairs in the southern republic are borne out by the account at Juarez of Guadalupe Candelaria, a 16-year-old Mexican girl who has done valiant service in rescuing wounded men from the rebel firing lines and nursing them back to health. Guadalupe, in a two-wheeled cart, armed with a rifle and six-shooter, drove time and again into the thick of the fighting to rescue wounded rebels. The little heroine is quoted as saying that the government had done much to foster this great and growing tide.

President Wilson's withdrawal of honorary membership leaves former President Taft the only honorary member of the Carabao.

No Reflection Intended.

Dr. Joseph M. Heller, secretary of the Washington Corral of the Carabao, issued a statement tonight expressing regret on behalf of the order, particularly those who had to do with Thursday night's dinner, that any feature of the program had given offense.

"The members of the order feel sure," Dr. Heller said, "that the high officials present at the dinner must have observed the spirit in which things were done and must realize, as they were intended to realize, that there was no effort to reflect upon anyone or upon anything."

"I am sure that officers of the army and of the navy would be the last men in the world to ridicule the administration and even if they were so inclined a public banquet would never be selected as the place for such manipulation."

The song, "Damn, damn, damn the insurgents" was inspired 15 years ago, during the insurrection in the islands, in the heat of a violent campaign and amid hardship and privations, and it was sung by the first volunteers that went to the Philippines and has been sung ever since.

In the words of the song indicate, the men wanted the insurrection over and to be returned to their own beloved homes." As it stood originally, the song read, "Filipino" instead of "insurgent".

It was said that General Villa had merely expelled some Spanish priests and merchants who had been active in assisting the Huerta government. Much surprise was manifested at the stories told in El Paso by foreign residents of Chihuahua.

This general impression seemed to be that the reports were exaggerated and that when the truth became known the matter would not be considered of international consequence.

A full report from Villa, which Carranza has requested, must come part of the war by courier, and is not expected until tomorrow.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 15.—Five workmen were seriously burned here today when a hot metal train was wrecked at the Cambria Steel works.

The train, made up of six ladle cars each carrying 15 tons of molten metal, was speeding to the Franklin plant, when two cars left the track and toppled over into the Conemaugh river. A terrible explosion followed as the hot steel came in contact with the water.

The amendment would have placed the control of each federal reserve bank in the hands of the government authorizing the central board to appoint five of the nine directors. The defeat of this amendment made virtually certain the adoption of the Owen plan which would leave the control of the regional banks in the hands of the member banks that compose them.

Senators Hitchcock and Lane joined the Republicans in voting against the motion to table the public ownership amendment. Immediately after the vote, Senator Clapp attacked the Democratic leaders in strong terms for having cut off debate on so important a feature of the currency bill.

The Democratic attitude in full control of the new regions was taken by Senator Clapp.

Hitchcock Attacks Bill.

Senator Hitchcock made a sharp attack on the proposed control of the regional reserve banks by the banking interests of the country. He declared this feature of the bill would turn over the country's reserves to the use of these bankers and would legalize the methods and combinations of control against which the country has long protested.

Quoting the speech of Senator Stone Saturday in which the latter attacked A. B. Hepburn and Frank A. Vanderlip of New York and Milton Alles of Washington as "representatives of a class of bankers who were fighting effective currency reform he insisted that under the Democratic bill the control of the currency system of the country would be turned over to these other bankers."

"The Vanderlips and the Alleses are going to control," interrupted Senator Stone. "It is remarkable that they are opposing this whole system. They have been down here fighting it. They are fighting it yet. They are trying every agency to defeat it. They want a central bank."

Renew Root Criticism.

Democratic senators renewed the criticism of Senator Root's speech at the night session of the senate. Senator Williams referring to the presidential boom launched for Senator Root by Senator Gallinger declared it was wonderful what speech can be wrought in a sound mind by a presidential law. Song Writers and Poets to Testify in Kellogg Trail

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Poets and song writers from far and near are under subpoena to testify in the trial begun today of Robert J. Kellogg, president of the Kellogg Music company of this city, under indictment for using the mail to defraud.

Chairman Owen of the banking committee challenged the statements of Senator Root that, in case of a financial disturbance, the gold of America would be drained out when foreign nations unloaded American securities.

The government charges that Kellogg inserted advertisements in many periodicals offering to publish on liberal royalties poems and songs of all sorts. In some cases, it is alleged, the Kellogg Music company offered to set the songs to music. The advertisements lured many song writers to reply, it is charged, and further correspondence induced them to send the Kellogg firm money on its representation that the songs sent in were masterpieces and would have popularity. The money, it is alleged, was to have been paid in pushing the sale of the songs, but this was not done.

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

THE Christmas spirit is not an easy thing to define. You either have it or you don't, though fortunately nine-tenths of the people belong to the former class. It begins to make itself felt at about this time every year—that is, ten days or two weeks before Christmas and its manifestations are various.

For one thing, you feel glad when you see the holiday displays in the store windows, and wish you were rich enough to buy something truly handsome for each of your friends and relatives, and for everybody else who isn't rich enough to buy such things for themselves. A kindlier and more generous feeling toward all mankind takes possession of you, the routine worries and troubles of everyday life are a little easier to bear, and the prospect of the future takes on a rosier tinge. That is the way most people feel at Christmas time, and it means that they have acquired the Christmas spirit.

Observe some of its manifestations in Colorado Springs just now. For a week the streets were blocked with snow and business was at a standstill. Now holiday shopping is in full swing, the streets and stores are crowded, everybody is eager, expectant, good natured and filled with a desire to do something to make somebody else happy on Christmas. The man who has been saying all along that he was going to be economical this year and cut out the Christmas extravagance (and he belongs to the numerous Legion family) has suddenly felt a generous impulse guiding his hand toward his pocketbook to extract therefrom the price of a real old-fashioned Christmas. And he is going to have it even if his creditors don't get their money for the next six months. It may be foolish and it may violate every basic principle of the order of Spuds, but it is irresistible.

The Christmas spirit is pervasive. It has helped simplify the problems incident to the snowstorm. The Street Department, for instance, is hustling harder to clear the streets for Christmas than it would if the storm occurred in January or February. It has employed hundreds of men and scores of teams and kept them at work persistently to make way for the Christmas shoppers. Of course it would do its best to clear the streets anyway, and at any time, but we have an idea that the near approach of the one greatest holiday of the year has been an added incentive.

Much the same thing can be said of the Street Railway company and the coal operators. Both have had their share of criticism in times past, especially the operators, but ordinary fairness—not to mention the Christmas spirit—demands that they be given credit now for doing everything possible to fulfill their obligations to the public. Street railway traffic was resumed in a remarkably short time, considering the tremendous difficulties involved, and the company is still hauling snow by the carloads from the downtown streets.

The coal operators have shown that they at least recognize the dependency of the community on them for fuel. A very large majority of the people of the Pikes Peak Region use the local lignite coal. When the streets were buried under two feet of snow the operators might have announced calmly that they could not make deliveries and let it go at that. Instead they have made unusual exertions, and although there has been a great deal of unavoidable inconvenience there has been none of the suffering and business loss which would have ensued if the deliveries had not been made.

It is a pity that the Christmas spirit, or something akin to it, cannot exist the year round, for it is a wholesome thing. But while it lasts let us make the most of it; obey the generous impulse, perform the thoughtful act, say the considerate word. There are eleven other months in the year in which it is easy to be too busy to think of others, and the Christmas season is worth while if for no other reason than because the spirit it engenders.

AN EMBITTERED EX-PRESIDENT

THE picture of President Taft which lingers in the minds of most people is that of a pleasant-faced, sunny-tempered man of calm judgment and unimpassioned speech. But that was the Taft who had not yet experienced the bitterness of a defeat so complete and humiliating that it amounted to utter repudiation. Professor Taft, of Yale University, is a different man different, at least, when he talks politics, and especially when he talks of the political ideals which, by gaining the ascendancy in the minds of the people, brought about his own personal Waterloo.

Saturday night Professor Taft delivered a speech before the Pennsylvania Society in New York, which was a characteristic expression of his embittered views. His subject was "The United States," but his theme was his particular object of detestation, the Progressive party and the things for which it stands. With fine sarcasm he divided human kind into the good and the bad, the good, of course, being the Progressives, "who are the only good," and the bad being "the rest of the world, who are the only bad." And then, "we are going to make the rich moderately poor and the poor moderately rich. We are going to rearrange human nature in such a way that men will strain their minds and muscles to the point of perspiration to help other people," etc., etc., etc.

Poor Taft! What a pity that he hasn't the sense and discretion, not to mention the good taste, to save himself from such public displays of chagrin and disappointment! The people tried him and found him wanting, and he, as much as any other one man, is responsible for the conditions that created the Progressive party. But the Progressive party beat him and he knows it. But for that party he would still be in the White House, perpetuating the anachronism of a political system which has been repudiated by the entire country.

It is this realization that embitters him, and instead of resigning himself to changed conditions and frankly recognizing that the political thought of the nation has advanced far beyond him, he emulates the small boy who, after being licked, runs off to a safe distance and makes faces at his enemy. Truly, a sorrowful spectacle.

The G. O. P. national committee, now assembling in Washington to devise a plan to unite the party, seems to be divided into two or three different groups, each with a different idea as to how the thing is to be worked. The incident is typical of the condition of the party generally. It is a safe guess that it wouldn't be possible to get together fifty Republicans, picked up at random anywhere, who are in agreement as to any essential party principle.

MR. PRENDERGAST RESUMES REPUBLICANISM.

From the New York Tribune (Rep.).

Controller Prendergast's declaration that it is high time for less talk of Armageddon and more thought of the future of our own United States undoubtedly expresses the opinion of hundreds of disillusioned Progressives. Some have preceded him in returning to the Republican party. More are hesitating because the Republican party, in this state, at least, looks no more attractive now than when they left it.

There is no question save that raised by political manipulators or officeholders and office-seekers about the desirability of forming out of Republicans and Progressives a compact, general fighting body against Democracy. The peril of division has been hammered home by a Sulzer-Tammann administration of state affairs. But before such an amalgamation can be made the Republican organization will have to be rebuilt. The party will have to clean house and put in a new management and a new set of furniture in the way of modern policies and principles. Mr. Prendergast can do good service toward bringing that about. Let us bring together the Republican party, more often and the voters are likely to be no better off.

PHONE CO. SUIT IS DISMISSED IN DENVER

DENVER Dec 15.—The United States district court today dismissed for lack of jurisdiction the suit brought by Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph company to prevent the enforcement of the so-called Brown ordinance reducing telephone rates in Denver. The action was taken on the motion of the city.

The corporation had sought an injunction, in the meantime retaining its old rates. There are pending several suits in local courts looking to the enforcement of the ordinance and it is expected that one or all of these now will be brought to trial.

COUNTY ROADS BEING CLEARED UP RAPIDLY

Farmers at Caihan Open Their Own Highway to Rush; Deep Drifts Found

The work of opening the roads of the county has been going forward daily under the direction of County Roads Supervisor W. P. Larrabee and most of the routes are now cleared.

The Canon City road has been opened for a distance of 25 miles south of this city and all of the roads to and from Broadmoor and in Cheyenne canon have been cleared for traffic. The road to Fountain has been opened through to the county line.

From now on the work of opening the roads to the east will be pushed, although a good start on some of the eastern roads has already been made. Work on the Lincoln Highway route to the east was commenced Sunday and at the close of work Monday night a stretch of road nine miles long had been opened. The gang which worked on this road ran into drifts 10 feet deep and a quarter of a mile long at some points.

Today work will continue on the east roads. A special gang will work today to open the road to Falcon and tomorrow expect to open it to Papeton. The main gang will continue work on the Pikes Peak, or Farmers, road straight through to Rush.

Supervisor Larrabee received word yesterday that the farmers in the vicinity of Caihan had opened the road from that town to Rush, a distance of 12 miles. Mr. Larrabee personally organized the work there and the county and the farmers each paid half of the expenses connected with the clearing of that stretch of road.

YULETIDE DECORATIONS ON MARKET IN ABUNDANCE

Shapes Display Green and Crimson Techniques; Don't Cut Trees in Forrest C. Revel

Phoradendron flavescens and Ilex opaca are in town and with everybody a merry Christmas, according to the last words of the Latin reporter, who was taken away yesterday to be examined for mental incapacity. All of which means that mistletoe and holly are on the market and ready to add gaiety and color to the glad Yuletide. Mistletoe that aid to the baneful is plentiful, according to the florists and is being sold for 75 cents to $1 a pound. All dealers report a big sale of the white-berry branch and Christmas is evidently going to be a very happy season for some.

Holly may be bought at 50 cents a pound and is of good quality. It is the most popular foliage of the holiday season and its spiny leaves are seen at all Michaelmas festivities. Its green leaves and red berries represent the colors of the Christmas-givers fraternity. A sprig of holly will send anybody back over the road of reminiscence and call up past scenes of jollity and good cheer. Christmas wreaths of holly or any other foliage are selling at prices ranging from 25 cents to $2.

In addition to the holly, mistletoe and other Christmas greens that now adorn store and shop, the Christmas tree has also appeared, trimmed and ready to star in the Xmas gatherings. The trees are being sold at stores and from wagons. The price and variety are numerous and one may pay anything from 25 cents to $10.

In connection with the Christmas season the forestry department has had to issue its usual warning against the indiscriminate cutting of trees in the forest reserve. The government does not allow the cutting of any kind of timber or brush in the forest reserve unless special permission is granted by the supervisor or ranger.

Nature's decorations are really the best but for the sake of variety the merchants offer a large assortment of artificial trimmings. Tinsel, candles, fairies and numerous other adornments abound on every counter and will add their share of color and gleam to the holiday celebrations.

PROBLEM OF PASS INVOLVED IN SUIT AGAINST RAILROAD

can an employee of one railroad riding on a pass on another railroad recover damages in case of accident or death? The question is being argued in the state supreme court.

The case is presented in the suit of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad against George L. Frederick, father of Frank Frederick, who was killed in the Husted wreck on August 14, 1911. The latter was employed in the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad in St. Louis. He came to Colorado on his vacation and applied for and obtained free transportation on his credentials for a trip to the Royal Gorge. It was while he was making the trip that he was killed.

The father brought suit against the company and secured $5,000 damages in the El Paso county court. The railroad company appealed to the supreme court.

The attorneys for the railroad contend that the free ticket of pass given to young Frederick absolved the railroad company from all blame and that it was stated on the ticket that the holder must take all risk.

"Excuses" Subject for Rev. Carson's Sermon

At the meeting last night of the series of evangelistic meetings being conducted by the churches of the southern part of the city, Evangelist Carson spoke on "Excuses". Mr. Carson pointed out many excuses for sin that were told of in the Bible. He said in part:

"One of the first excuses that men make for not becoming a Christian is 'I am too great a sinner.' If another should make such a statement against you, it would cause enmity. Another class will excuse themselves by saying 'My heart is too hard.' Some say I have tried it once and failed, and I am afraid that I can't hold out. 'No man can hold out in the grace of God alone, for he giveth eternal life and no one shall pluck out of my hand.'

1913 Motor Tax Registration Closes New Style Tags Planned for Next Year

According to notices sent county clerks by Secretary Pearce business of the motor department of the secretary office for 1913 closed yesterday were asked to make a final return all unused registrations the secretary of state. At last evening County Clerk's office had issued 146 under the new state motor tags. The total amount of money given to the secretary of state by the county road fund is $3,000.00 in acknowledgement of the amount turned over to the treasurer by County Clerk Shields. Taxes and badges for 1914 were issued from those used this year.

The following statement was issued yesterday by the committee in charge.

At present meeting of the El Paso County Ministerial Association a committee was appointed consisting of Dr. M. N. Smith, chairman, the Rev. R. P. Carson of Manitou, the Rev. Mr. Spencer of Colorado Springs, the Rev. Mr. Stuntz, and the Rev. Mr. Holbrook to formulate plans for a Church Attendance Day in the Pikes Peak region.

The Pikes Peak region was divided into six districts and a chairman for each of the districts was selected. It is understood that all the other ministers in each district are on this district committee to act with their chairman. The districts and their ministers are as follows: North side Colorado Springs, the Rev. J. H. Spencer, south side Colorado Springs, the Rev. H. L. Kohler, west side Colorado Springs, the Rev. J. Y. Ewart, colored churches, the Rev. Mr. Jefferson Colorado City, the Rev. G. H. Stuntz, Manitou, the Rev. R. P. Carson.

Dr. Smith is general chairman of the entire movement and Dr. Brewster chairman of the publicity committee. Associated with this committee will be Mr. Reno of the Salvation Army, Miss Holmes of the Y. W. C. A. and Mr. Simmons of the T. M. C. A. The committee will meet Wednesday afternoon at 7:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. for further development of the plan.

This is a general movement which has been inaugurated in many cities with great success. The committee asks the hearty cooperation of everybody in the Pikes Peak region. Watch the papers for further announcements and keep the matter before you continually. This is the motto, "Everybody going to church Sunday, January 4, 1914."

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

THE Christmas spirit is not an easy thing to define. You either have it or you don't, though fortunately nine-tenths of the people belong to the former class. It begins to make itself felt at about this time every year—that is, ten days or two weeks before Christmas and its manifestations are various.

For one thing, you feel glad when you see the holiday displays in the store windows, and wish you were rich enough to buy something truly handsome for each of your friends and relatives, and for everybody else who isn't rich enough to buy such things for themselves. A kindlier and more generous feeling toward all mankind takes possession of you, the routine worries and troubles of everyday life are a little easier to bear, and the prospect of the future takes on a rosier tinge. That is the way most people feel at Christmas time, and it means that they have acquired the Christmas spirit.

Observe some of its manifestations in Colorado Springs just now. For a week the streets were blocked with snow and business was at a standstill. Now holiday shopping is in full swing, the streets and stores are crowded, everybody is eager, expectant, good natured and filled with a desire to do something to make somebody else happy on Christmas. The man who has been saying all along that he was going to be economical this year and cut out the Christmas extravagance (and he belongs to the numerous Legion family) has suddenly felt a generous impulse guiding his hand toward his pocketbook to extract therefrom the price of a real old-fashioned Christmas. And he is going to have it even if his creditors don't get their money for the next six months. It may be foolish and it may violate every basic principle of the order of Spuds, but it is irresistible.

The Christmas spirit is pervasive. It has helped simplify the problems incident to the snowstorm. The Street Department, for instance, is hustling harder to clear the streets for Christmas than it would if the storm occurred in January or February. It has employed hundreds of men and scores of teams and kept them at work persistently to make way for the Christmas shoppers. Of course it would do its best to clear the streets anyway, and at any time, but we have an idea that the near approach of the one greatest holiday of the year has been an added incentive.

Much the same thing can be said of the Street Railway company and the coal operators. Both have had their share of criticism in times past, especially the operators, but ordinary fairness—not to mention the Christmas spirit demands that they be given credit now for doing everything possible to fulfill their obligations to the public. Street railway traffic was resumed in a remarkably short time, considering the tremendous difficulties involved, and the company is still hauling snow by the carloads from the downtown streets.

The coal operators have shown that they at least recognize the dependency of the community on them for fuel. A very large majority of the people of the Pikes Peak Region use the local lignite coal. When the streets were buried under two feet of snow the operators might have announced calmly that they could not make deliveries—and let it go at that. Instead they have made unusual exertions, and although there has been a great deal of unavoidable inconvenience there has been none of the suffering and business loss which would have ensued if the deliveries had not been made.

It is a pity that the Christmas spirit, or something akin to it, cannot exist the year round, for it is a wholesome thing. But while it fails to make the world obey the generous impulse perform the thoughtful act, say the considerate word. There are eleven other months in the year in which it is easy to be too busy to think of others, and the Christmas season is worth while if for no other reason than because the spirit it engenders.

AN EMBITTERED EX-PRESIDENT

THE picture of President Taft which lingers in the minds of most people is that of a pleasant-faced, sunny-tempered man of calm judgment and unimpassioned speech. But that was the Taft who had not yet experienced the bitterness of a defeat so complete and humiliating that it amounted to utter repudiation. Professor Taft, of Yale University, is a different man different, at least, when he talks politics, and especially when he talks of the political ideals which, by gaining the ascendency in the minds of the people, brought about his own personal Waterloo.

Saturday night Professor Taft delivered a speech before the Pennsylvania Society in New York, which was a characteristic expression of his embittered views. His subject was "The United States," but his theme was his particular object of detestation, the Progressive party and the things for which it stands. With fine sarcasm he divided human kind into the good and the bad, the good, of course, being the Progressives, "who are the only good," and the bad being "the rest of the world, who are the only bad." And then, "we are going to make the rich moderately poor and the poor moderately rich. We are going to rearrange human nature in such a way that men will strain their minds and muscles to the point of perspiration to help other people," etc., etc., etc.

Poor Taft! What a pity that he hasn't the sense and discretion, not to mention the good taste, to save himself from such public displays of chagrin and disappointment! The people tried him and found him wanting, and he, as much as any other one man, is responsible for the conditions that created the Progressive party. But the Progressive party beat him and he knows it. But for that party he would still be in the White House, perpetuating the anachronism of a political system which has been repudiated by the entire country.

It is this realization that embitters him, and instead of resigning himself to changed conditions and frankly recognizing that the political thought of the nation has advanced far beyond him, he emulates the small boy who, after being licked, runs off to a safe distance and makes faces at his enemy. Truly, a sorrowful spectacle.

The G. O. P. national committee, now assembling in Washington to devise a plan to unite the party, seems to be divided into two or three different groups, each with a different idea as to how the thing is to be worked. The incident is typical of the condition of the party generally. It is a safe guess that it wouldn't be possible to get together fifty Republicans, picked up at random anywhere, who are in agreement as to any essential party principle.

BOULDER ENDORSES HALL

From the Boulder Camera.
Henry C. Hall for member of the Interstate commerce commission, is the recommendation of Simon Stroth and Thomas to President Wilson. That the Inter-Mountain country is entitled to a place on the commission, is the claim of the business men of the west and Henry C. Hall, eminent attorney, former mayor of Colorado Springs and an esteemed resident of this state, is one of the very best suggestions possible to be made.

A RECKONING COMING.

From the El Paso County Democrat.
The coal mining corporations insist that they shall be recognized and that the state that begot them must tax its citizens for their protection. But recognizing the unions—why, that's another matter. What shall the harvest of such folly be? We shall soon see. The governor may never convene the legislature in extra session, but an election day is not so very far off. On election day every Colorado voter is a member of the legislature—thanks to the initiative—Democratic measure.

DEAD AND TURNED TO CLAY

From the Kansas City Star.
By a vote of 182 to 187 the New York Republican party conference voted for a direct primary law for that state. The 187 included Boss Barnes

A gaudy chance that for a primary law from the Republican organization. A fine show for reform or progress in state or nation at the hands of a party with such a reluctant vote that of the New York conference.

Boss Barnes ironically desired the same primary pledge that was made at the Saratoga convention of 1910. And why not? It was never fulfilled. What is the difference whatever the promise is when there is no hope (or fear) of making it good?

And Boss Barnes remains as Empire state chairman of a party that promises, by a bare majority, to let the people control their nominations!

Could any incident better prove the 'dead and turned to clay' condition of the Republican party?

MR PRENDERGAST RESUMES REPUBLICANISM

From the New York Tribune (Rep).
Controller Prendergast's declaration that it is high time for less talk of Armageddon and more thought of the future of our own United States undoubtedly expresses the opinion of hundreds of disillusioned Progressives. Some have pressed him in returning to the Republican party. More are hesitating, because the Republican party in this state at least looks no more attractive now than when they left it.

There is no question save that raised by political manipulators or officeholders and office-seekers about the desirability of forming out of Republicans and Progressives a compact for mutual fighting bodies. But the time has come when the two parties must be merged in one. The Sulzer-Tammann administration of state affairs. But before such an amalgamation can be made the Republic in organization will have to be rebuilt. The party will have to clean house and put in a new nucleus and a new set of officers. The way is clear, don't you think? Mr. Prendergast is in good service toward the Rep. He has, I think, brought about the Rep. He has, I think, done a good job and the voters are beginning to notice it.

It is a pity that the Christmas spirit, or something akin to it, cannot exist the year round, for it is a wholesome thing. But while it fails to make the world obey the generous impulse perform the thoughtful act, say the considerate word. There are eleven other months in the year in which it is easy to be too busy to think of others, and the Christmas season is worth while if for no other reason than because the spirit it engenders.

Representative Victor Murdock of Kansas, the Progressive leader of the house, refused to admit regret over Mr. Prendergast's course. When asked about his feelings, he exclaimed:

"Oh, yes, I have read the Prendergast statement, and if he is willing to leap into the open grave he is welcome to that form of exercise."

THE SCHOOL PLAYGROUND

How large is your school playground? Henry S. Curtis, in a bulletin just issued by the United States bureau of education, declares that every city school building should have at least one full block of ground, whether the block is the usual city block of two or three acres, or one of 10 acres, as in Salt Lake, Utah.

The high school needs at least 10 acres, he says.

As for the country school, it ought never to have less than three acres of play space, and could profitably make use of 10 acres, provided the grass is kept mowed.

Mr. Curtis shows that our schools have, in general, had very inadequate yards. During the past 10 years, however, with the development of the playground movement, there has come an increased demand for ground space around school buildings. The state boards of education in Pennsylvania and Virginia will not approve plans for new school buildings that do not provide for adequate playgrounds. In Little Rock, Ark. the standard of one full block to a school has been carried out with every one of the schools for white children. All but one or two of the schools in Pueblo, Colo. have a full block. In San Angelo, Tex. every school but one has two blocks, at least, and two have 10 acres of play space. The first school built in Gary, Ind. had two acres of playground, the second had four the third 11, and a lot recently purchased contains 20 acres.

"Let me assure you that question like this all talk of an amalgamation between the Progressive and Republican parties is nonsense."

Mr. Pinchot told of a great Progressive meeting recently held in Indiana and said $20,000 was raised for the party not long ago in a short time.

"The party is forging ahead" he asserted.

When Mr. Pinchot's attention was called to the enormous falling off in recent elections of the Progressive vote—notably in New Jersey—he said such conditions were to be expected at the end of a campaign, but that the party would be in perfect shape to gather a big vote in the next presidential election.

"Do you consider it likely that Mr. Roosevelt will become the next Republican nominee for president?" he was asked.

"Let me assure you that question like this all talk of an amalgamation between the Progressive and Republican parties is nonsense."

Mr. Pinchot told of a great Progressive meeting recently held in Indiana and said $20,000 was raised for the party not long ago in a short time.

"The party is forging ahead" he asserted.

Mr. Pinchot, discussing the Hatch-Hatch Valley water controversy, which is now before congress, enthusiastically supported the plan to turn the valley into a lake as a water supply for the city of San Francisco.

"It is simply a question of the greatest good to the greatest number," he said. "Should millions of dollars be spent for San Francisco a water supply just because a few tourists want to come to this section?" This plan will give San Francisco her water supply for about $20,000,000, which will be a saving of about $20,000,000.

"A Stationary Progressive"—Colby.

From the Philadelphia North American.

Controller Prendergast's desertion from the Progressive party brought this tart comment today from Bainbridge Colby, lawyer and a Progressive leader.

"As one reads what Mr. Prendergast says, one doubts whether he ever really left the Republican party. He has the old G. O. P. idea that the chief end of man is to liek the Democratic party, and that every high resolve, every earnest endeavor, is of no account if it involves even temporarily the success of the Democratic party."

"Mr. Prendergast misreads the times. He is not a Progressive at all. His mind is back in the Blaine and Harrison period when prosperity was Republican and high rates for railroads were Democratic when the bumper crop were triumphs of Republican administration, and the frosts in Florida were charged to Democratic incompetence."

"His idea that we should forget all difference of principle and swallow the insincere protestations of reform by the unrepentant frauds of the Republican party is simple because in his opinion it presents today the most effective force with

Farmers at Calhan Open Their Own Highway to Rush; Deep Drifts Found

The work of opening the roads of the county has been going forward daily under the direction of County Road Supervisor W. P. Larrabee and most of the routes have now cleared.

The Canon City road has been opened for a distance of 25 miles south of this city and all of the roads to and in Broadmoor and Cheyenne canon have been cleared for traffic. The road to Fountain has been opened through to the county line.

From now on the work of opening the roads to the east will be pushed, although a good start on some of the eastern roads has already been made. Work on the Lincoln Highway route to the east was commenced Sunday and at the close of work Monday morning a stretch of road nine miles long had been opened. The gang which worked on this road ran into drifts 10 feet deep and a quarter of a mile long at some points.

Today's work will continue on the east roads. A special gang will work today to open the road to Falcon and tomorrow expect to open it to Papeton. The main gang will continue work on the Pikes Peak or Farmers road straight through to Rush.

Supervisor Larrabee received word yesterday that the farmers in the vicinity of Calhan had opened the road from that town to Rush, a distance of 26 miles. Mr. Larrabee personally organized the work there and the county and the farmers each paid half of the expenses connected with the clearing of that stretch of road.

YULETIDE DECORATIONS ON MARKET IN ABUNDANCE

Shops Display Green and Crimson Trimmings; Don't Cut Trees in Forest Reserve!

Phoradendron flavescens and Taxus Usneoides are in town and wish everybody a merry Christmas, according to the last words of the Latin reporter, who was taken away yesterday to be examined for mental incapacity. All of which means that mistletoe and holly are on the market and ready to add safety and color to the glad Yuletide.

Mistletoe, first aid to the bashful, is plentiful, according to the florists and is being sold for 75 cents to $1 a pound. All dealers report a big sale of the white-berry branch and Christmas is evidently going to be a very happy season for some.

Holly may be bought at 50 cents a pound and is of good quality. It is the most popular foliage of the holiday season and its spiny leaves are seen at all Michaelmas festivities. Its green leaves and red berries represent the colors of the Christmas-givers fraternity. A sprig of holly will send anybody back over the road of reminiscence and call up past scenes of wedlock and good cheer. "Christmas wreath of holly or any other foliage are selling at prices ranging from 25 cents to $2.

In addition to the holly, mistletoe and other Christmas greens that now adorn store and shop, the Christmas tree has also appeared, triumphed and ready to star in the Xmas gatherings. The trees are being sold at stores and from wagons. The price and variety are numerous and one may pay anything from 25 cents to $10.

In connection with the Christmas season the forestry department has had to issue its usual warning against the indiscriminate cutting of trees in the forest reserve. The government does not allow the cutting of any kind of timber or brush in the forest reserve unless special permission is granted by the supervisor or ranger.

Nature's decorations are really the best but for the sake of variety the merchants offer a large assortment of artificial trimmings. Tinsel, candles, fairies and numerous other adornments abound on every counter and will add their share of color and gleam to the holiday celebrations.

PROBLEM OF PASS INVOLVED IN SUIT AGAINST RAILROAD

Appeal From El Paso County Court Being Heard Before State Supreme Court

Can an employee of one railroad riding on a pass on another railroad recover damages in case of accident or death? The question is being argued in the state supreme court.

The case is presented in the suit of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad against George T. Frederick father of Frank Frederick, who was killed in the Huston wire on August 14, 1912. The latter was employed by the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad in St. Louis. He came to Colorado on his vacation and applied for and obtained free transportation on his credentials for a trip to the Royal Gorge. It was while he was making the trip that he died.

The father brought suit against the company and secured $5,000 damages in the El Paso county court. The railroad company appealed to the supreme court.

The attorneys for the railroad contend that the free ticket or pass given to young Frederick absolved the railroad company from all blame and that it was stated on the ticket that the holder must take all risk.

'Excuses' Subject for Rev. Carson's Sermon

At the meeting last night of the series of evangelistic meetings being conducted by the churches of the southern part of the city, Evangelist Carson spoke on "Excuses." Mr. Carson pointed out many excuses for sin that were told of in the Bible. He said in part:

"One of the first excuses that men make for not becoming a Christian is 'I am too great a sinner.' If another should make such a statement against you, it would cause enmity. Another class will excuse themselves by saying 'My heart is too hard.' Some say I have tried it once and failed, and I am afraid that I can't hold out. No man can hold out in the grace of God alone, for he giveth eternal life and no one shall pluck out of my hand." Some sinners say 'I am so weak. But Paul said 'When I am weak then am I strong.'

CREAM OF TARTAR is the crystallized acid of grapes refined to absolute purity, and ground to a creamy flour. It is declared by physicians the most wholesome of all fruit acids, and has been proved by long and universal experience the most efficient and satisfactory for baking purposes.

Highly refined products of the grape, properly combined with bicarbonate of soda and a little corn starch to absorb atmospheric moisture, are the sole ingredients of the ideal, high-class, standard baking powder.

Many acids have been tried during the last hundred years to find a substitute for the grape cream of tartar which would cost less. In recent years alum, which makes a baking powder at a cost of two cents a pound, has been used, because of its trifling cost. Alum, however, has been disapproved by scientific chemists and physicians and is not employed by manufacturers of high-class powders.

Cream of tartar powders being healthful themselves, add to the healthfulness of the food.

CURLEY CARTER

Alleged member of one of New York's most active bands of "wireless" wire-tappers, has been named in the graft hunt that is now being pushed by District Attorney Whitman. As a result of the investigation, former Police Captain Dominick Riley, who has made many notable arrests in his time, has been arrested on the charge of accepting a bribe. As Captain another detective has confessed that he shared events with Riley & Co. privately with tappers for protection.

No other preparation will do the job of Pinex in the mixture, although honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired.

Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy. This plan often gets imitated, but the old successful combination has never been equalled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. Your druggist, apothecary, or will get it for you.

AMERICAN FIFTEEN
ENDS LONG CRUISE

Gone Seven Weeks and Did Not Need Any Supplies
While Abroad

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The battleships Wyoming, Arkansas, Utah and Florida came into port today, after passing through a five-day gale which marked the end of their voyage of 9,000 miles.

These vessels were part of the fleet which left Hampton Roads, October 25, for the Mediterranean on a voyage of courtesy and to demonstrate that a squadron of United States battleships could cross the Atlantic and return without being forced to depend on foreign ports for supplies. Nine battleships composed the fleet, and not an ounce of coal, oil or provisions was purchased in these seven weeks, or more they were absent from the American shores.

Officers of the fleet declared today that the voyage established a record for the United States navy. Three colliers and a provision ship accompanied the battleships carrying all necessary supplies. Officers declared today that these vessels could have supplied the fleet for a much longer time had it been necessary.

MEXICANS BUY ARMS IN KANSAS CITY, MO.

KANSAS City, Mo., Dec. 15.—The Mexican laborers here are buying revolvers in great numbers and large quantities of ammunition for smuggling across the border into Mexico, the belief of the police. These supplies, the police say, are being obtained from pawnbrokers, mail order and sporting goods houses. Police records show that Mexicans when arrested seldom are armed and this fact is given by the police as a basis for their belief that the arms being gathered are shipment out of Kansas City.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED ON DEPARTURE OF REV. E. H. LILES

At the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association of El Paso County held October 18, a committee of the association appointed by the Association draw up resolutions on the departure of Rev. E. H. Liles from the city. These resolutions, as given below, were read and approved by the association at its next regular meeting October 25, and the secretary was instructed to send one copy to Rev. Mr. Liles, give one to the papers for publication, but owing to the unexpected call of a secretary from the city this matter was overlooked by him until now.

W. E. BENNETT, Secy.
Resolutions of the El Paso County Ministerial Association:

"Whereas our brother, the Rev. E. Liles, D. D., has indicated his intention of leaving the city at an early date for a new pastorate;

"Resolved, That we, the members of the El Paso County Ministerial Association hereby express our deep and sincere regret at his going from the high esteem in which we have held him as a Christian gentleman, as a brother minister of the Gospel and an appreciation of the unselfish service which he has rendered this community."

"Never has Mr. Liles failed to stand squarely for every form of civic righteousness. He has been a natural leader in local reform movements, as president of the Law and Order League, has always rendered often personal sacrifice, most faithful and efficient service."

"We gratefully recognize the qualities of his mind and heart which endeared him to us as a man, and bid him God speed as he goes to a new field of labor."

CORN AND COTTON CROPS GREATEST IN HISTORY OF NATION

Total Valuation Aggregates Over Four Billion; Acreage Much Higher

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—With the most valuable crops of corn and cotton ever produced and the second most valuable oat crop, the value of the nation's 14 principal farm crops this year approaches the enormous total of $4,916,801,000, the department of agriculture announced today in its final estimates of acreage, production and value. This is an increase of $182,956,000 over the value of the same crop last year and of $350,772,000 over those of 1911, based on the prices paid to farmers on December 1.

The acreage of these crops is equivalent to a farm one-seventh the size of continental United States. The exact area planted to these 14 crops, which is more than 96 per cent of the total of all crop area, was 295,433,000 acres, an increase of almost 5,000,000 acres over last year's area and of more than 2,000,000 over the 1911 area. More than one-third of the total acreage was planted to corn.

For the crops as a whole the average production per acre was valued at about $16.50. The total crop averaged $16.96 per acre; cotton, $22.19; sugar beets, $28.84; wheat, $12.14; oats, $11.44; sweet potatoes, $8.68; rice, $8.68; potatoes, $6.10; tobacco, $100.89; and rye, $12.84.

Distribution: Consumption, 1,495,273

BIG GUNS SHIPPED TO FORTIFY CANAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The steamer Christobal operated by a government steamship company between New York and Panama, left port today heavily loaded with the first of the big guns to be sent to the isthmus for the fortification of the canal. She carried 14 large mortars whose carriages are already in place at the Atlantic and Pacific entrances. Within two weeks the guns will be mounted and ready for use. A detachment of coast artillerists sailed with the guns. The largest gun of the Panama fortifications will be a 16 inch rifle which will be installed at the Pacific entrance. It will be carried by the Christobal on her next trip about the middle of January.

In addition to the forts at the entrances of the canal inland defenses will be constructed along the shores of the canal. The headquarters for the army, navy and marine corps on the isthmus will be at the Pacific entrance of the canal but several posts will be maintained elsewhere, including the Atlantic entrance to the locks notably at some point along Culebra cut and at Gatun dam the most vulnerable spot on the canal.

bales, exports, 3,948,343 bales, and stocks at end of period in manufacturing establishments, 1,474,890 bales; in independent warehouses, 3,284,807 bales, and elsewhere, 2,698,000 bales.

Cotton consumed during November included 13,456 bales of foreign cotton and 26,311 bales of linters. Cotton growing states consumed 23,916 bales and all other states, 22,678 bales.

Cotton in manufacturing establishments included 43,176 bales of foreign cotton and 58,564 bales of linters. In manufacturing establishments in cotton growing states there was 88,194 bales and in all other states 662,716 bales.

Active spindles in cotton growing states numbered 12,069,086, and in all other states, 18,858,946.

Exports during November included United Kingdom, 580,809 bales; Germany, 161,863 bales; France, 183,494 bales; Italy, 67,984 bales, and all other countries, 202,474 bales.

NOT BEYOND HELP AT 87

Sleep-disturbing, bladder weakness, stiffness in joints, weak, inactive kidneys, action and rheumatic pains are evident signs of kidney trouble. Mrs. Mary A. Dean, 47, E. Walnut St., Taunton, Mass., writes: "I have passed my 87th birthday, and thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills proved most beneficial in my case of kidney and bladder trouble." Elderly people will find Foley Kidney Pills both tonic and strengthening, and may be sure they contain no harmful drugs. Robinson Drug Co.

NEW YORK MARKET

Now YORK, Dec. 16.—Americas Telephone broke 1½ points to 116 on the stock exchange today, the lowest price since 1908. Canadian Pacific fell 5½ points. Western Union dropped to 50¾, the lowest since 1910. It had been 10 years since American Express sold lower than that year's market of 103. New York Central Pennsylvania, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific and a few other stocks sold at or below the bottom figures of the year. Weakness of these issues affected the whole list.

Selling was not on a large scale, however, and one of the most discouraging aspects of the market, from the viewpoint of traders on the long side, was the readiness with which prices yielded on comparatively small offerings.

New Haven, which gained more than a point, stood out conspicuously in a weak market. There was some demand for the stock from buyers who believed that the dividend being passed the worst was over. Covering also helped to put up the price.

Further signs of business recession and pessimistic predictions from Washington as to the effect of the proposed currency bill were talked of in the street as bearish factors.

The strong showing of the banks in Saturday's statement had little effect on sentiment in the prevailing mood of traders. Call money rates eased off. Time money, however, was held firmly.

Bonds were weak, with some speculative issues 1 to 2 points lower. Total sales, par value, $2,000,000.

United States 3's, coupon, declined ¼c; and Panama 3's, coupon, advanced ¼c on call.
